Happy 4th of July!

We hope you all enjoyed a wonderful holiday with friends and family. The holiday is full of traditions like parades and BBQs. Maybe you even saw a fireworks show in person or on TV. Currently there is a trend to replace the traditional fireworks display with a light display of a different kind - a laser light show! This may be due in part to safety concerns and in part to available funding. Whatever the reason, a new kind of laser light show may be headed to the skies near you soon. It will be even better than the last time you saw Laser Floyd or Laser Zeppelin at the planetarium.

This month we want to focus on the laser light show going on at The Natural Path. We use "cold" (or low-level) lasers to help with everything from pain and inflammation to skin issues.

Most lasers are "hot" or high-powered lasers. They are the type used in surgeries, cauterizing or cutting tissue, and they increase thermal temperature of what they contact.

Low-level laser light is compressed light of a wavelength from the cold, red part of the spectrum of photon emissions. It is different from natural light in that it is one precise color; it is coherent (it travels in a straight line), monochromatic (a single wavelength) and polarized (it concentrates its beam in a defined location or spot). KNOWN SIDE EFFECTS. Rather, laser light directs bio-stimulative light energy to the body's cells, which the cells then convert into chemical energy to promote natural healing and pain relief.

We are now offering in-office laser rental too. Give us a call to find out if cold laser may be right for you!

Ruby's Corner

Laser is great for 4-legged family members too! I have a laser at home that Mom and Dad use to help with day-to-day aches and pains and my hip dysplasia. I'm not quite a spring chicken anymore, even though I am still greeting everyone with great exuberance! The laser is even good for calming me down. What? Me.....hyper?!
